Germans Smash Out Of Rhine Bridgehead, Threaten Big Assault

PARIS, Jan. 19.—(CP)—The Germans burst out of the northern end of the Rhine bridgehead north of Strasbourg today and linked up with other forces in northeast Alsace, forming a solid front against the United States 7th Army along 40 miles of the Maginot line as far west as Bitch.

Official Says:

Tourist Trade Gives Chances To War Vets

The tourist industry offers Alberta wide opportunities for suitable employment and rehabilitation of veterans without creating further competition for labor and farmers, and as well can bring Alberta's whole economy into a much higher state of balance, Dan. E. C. Campbell, provincial government director of publicity, declared Friday afternoon at the United Farmers of Alberta convention held in the Macdonald hotel.

Speaking in place of Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of trade and industry, Mr. Campbell appealed to delegates for support of a comprehensive post-war tourist program which would "cost a little money but would pay back the investment ten-fold."

Farmers can aid in tourist development by realizing that eggs and beefsteaks sold in the province mean three times more to the provincial economy than sold elsewhere; by realizing that within a few years, the industry can be built into a hundred million dollar turnover, and by support government efforts to develop the tourist industry, Mr. Campbell stated.

MONEY WELL SPENT
He declared government spends nearly half a million dollars annually to assist agriculture in one

Jack McLaren of Edmonton, already in the jewelry in the Gas Company primary, lost 12-8 to George Chesney of Calgary in the Hudson's Bay Company secondary. Only undefeated rink in the spiel, Bobby Alexander, will see action again later today in the semi-finals of the Gas Co. event when they meet McLaren of Edmonton.

Men on Leave Don't Return

Hundreds of "Zombies" Missing After Disorders at London, Ont.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 19.—(CP)—More than 100 home defence draftees early on the morning of Dec. 31 scaled a six-foot fence at Queen's Park barracks here following trouble of an unsated nature. Hundreds more of their comrades in the two units didn't report back from leave and most of both groups are still at large.

News of the situation, on which military authorities here and at Ottawa refused to comment, was withheld from publication until last night following a censorship directive to all Canadian newspapers. Censors withheld permission to publish the text of the directive on the grounds that it contained a confidential statement from the department of national defence.

The disappearance followed three

At the northern end of the front, however, British troops driving into Germany from the Netherlands panhandle west of the Maas (Meuse) river pushed the enemy back two more miles and captured six villages northeast of Sittard. These were Honen, Havert and Schalbruck, all inside Germany; Stein, Lind and Heide. They battered into Isenbruch where bitter street fighting progressed. The towns are within 38 miles of the great Rhine city of Dusseldorf.

The situation on the southern front was regarded as increasingly grave. Into this potential springboard for another big attack, the enemy was pouring a steady stream of reinforcements over ferries and pontoon bridges, thrown across the Rhine from Strasbourg to Karlsruhe.

In northern Luxembourg, the United States 3rd Army was on the move again under fire of Siegfried

By 340 to 7 Churchill Wins Landslide Vote Of Confidence

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(CP)—An attempt to express censure of Prime Minister Churchill's interventionist policy in liberated lands was beaten 340 to 7 today in the House of Commons.

Technically the vote was on the £1,000,000,000 (about $4,500,000,000) war appropriations bill. Some critical Labor members announced beforehand that although they opposed British policy in Greece and Italy, they would not vote against the bill on the grounds they might be accused of impeding the war effort.

Mr. Churchill himself was in the House during the vote and was cheered loudly as he left with Foreign Secretary Eden, who had wound up a two-day debate.

SEEK NEW SET-UP

Mr. Eden told the House that Britain would place before the forthcoming "Big Three" conference a demand for creation of machinery with power to deal quickly and jointly with international political problems.

Mr. Eden called again for more frequent meetings of the big

Smith Beats Rose In Women's Spiel

Rink skipped by Mrs. R. L. Smith was put in the fore for the Grand Challenge as a result of Friday morning's game at the Alberta Avenue curling rink. Curlers Friday morning entered the fourth day of the annual bonspiel of the Northern Alberta Ladies' Curling Association.

In the Friday morning draw Smith beat Rose by 9 to 5, thus giving Smith's rink a decided "edge" over others in the games for the week.

Making a topic of conversation among the curlers, Mrs. Smith and her team, including Mrs. L. G. Beecroft, Mrs. W. R. Thornton and Mrs. G. T. Evans, scored three six-ends in three different games during the bonspiel.

Results of Friday morning's draw are: McDowell 8, Lees 12; Smith 9, Rose 5; Croonquist 12, Dunlop 8; Black 10, French 9; Riley 7, Carroll 11; Walkinshaw 10, Patton 7.

Allies at 55,421 Nazi Casualties In Offensive Total 120,000
By WALTER CRONKITE
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
PARIS, Jan. 19.—(BUP)—Supreme Allied headquarters today placed the cost of the German Ardennes offensive at 55,421 Allied casualties but said 17 German divisions had been smashed or badly battered and that the Nazis had failed "seriously" to affect Allied plans and preparations for future operations.

The official Allied report on the German counter-offensive said that the operation was conceived by Adolf Hitler and Field Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt, "both of whom are equally responsible for its failure."

The attack, said Shae, cost the Germans 120,000 men, of whom 80,000 were killed or wounded and 40,000 taken prisoner. Allied losses were 55,421, of whom 18,416 were prisoners.

DIVISIONS SMASHED

Von Rundstedt's losses were placed at four panzer divisions smashed, four panzer and panzer gendarm divisions badly battered, one paratroop division destroyed, and eight Volksgrenadier divisions reduced in infantry strength by 50 per cent.

In comparison, Allied losses in the strength of about five divisions.

Allied headquarters said that the German operation "has not seriously affected Allied plans or preparations for future operations."

Summarizing the Ardennes operations for Dec. 16 to Jan. 11, Shae pointed out that the enemy held certain temporary advantages, but that "certain advantages on which he relied are transitory and at best will last only during the winter months"—apparently a reference to winter's effect on groundings Allied air power.

The fund will be administered by the UFA's incoming executive board and will be available to students attending any agricultural school in the province.

Mr. Gardiner will be recipient of another honor at the hands of convention delegates, who by resolution at Thursday sittings decided to present their former

Vancouver Trams Are Rolling Again

VANCOUVER, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Street car traffic began rolling along Vancouver streets today for the first time since Jan. 9, when the strike of British Columbia Electric Railway Company street car and bus employees crippled the normal transportation in this city, Victoria and New Westminster.

Street car and bus operators in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, B.C., yesterday voted overwhelmingly in favor of a settlement plan approved by federal authorities and union leaders. The vote was 1,758 in favor of ending the 10-day tie-up in transportation facilities and 262 against. There were eight spoiled ballots.

Results of the voting was announced by Charles M. Stewart, chairman of the union advisory committee. The total includes votes of employees in all three cities.

ROME, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Counter-attacking British 8th Army forces have smashed a small bridgehead which the Germans established on the south bank of the Senio river earlier this week and have driven the enemy back across the stream, Allied headquarters announced today.

(This dispatch did not make clear the nature of the troops engaged in the Senio action. First Canadian Corps troops recently have been reported in action in this sector.)

At Co-Op. Probe B.C. Firms Ask For "Equitable" Tax Adjustment

VANCOUVER, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Eight independent limited companies in the fruit and vegetable packing business in British Columbia's Okanagan Valley "re-organized" into co-operatives in the "past few years," said a brief from 10 independent companies submitted yesterday to the Royal Commission on taxation of co-operatives.

"Unless we are able to compete on equal terms with the co-operative organizations we will be forced to reorganize our companies into co-operatives or go out of business," said the brief which appealed for an "equitable adjustment" of taxation so the independent firms in the Okanagan Valley will operate on an equal basis.

The commission investigating the question of application of taxation to co-operatives completed its Vancouver sittings following submissions from Mrs. G. D. Steeves, CCF member of the British Columbia legislature for Vancouver-North, today.

It Says Here

by Bob Hope
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19.—Yesterday I went down to return a Christmas gift. I enjoyed seeing a big department store after the Christmas shopping is over. Now I know what Tokyo looks like after a B-29 raid. The place was really a shambles. It looked as bad as Boris Korloff with a hangover. And it was really deserted. I rang for the elevator, the door opened, two bats flew out, and one turned to the other and said, "Is this really necessary?"

The counters were really bare. In fact, I looked at one and it blushed. I asked the store detective if he had much trouble trailing shop lifters. He just laughed and kept sitting there on my shoulders. I saw Crosby in the store. He was returning one of his kid's hobby horses. He couldn't use it anyway, with the tracks closed. But they were very nice about exchanging my gift; all they asked me for was my name, address, and the first mortgage on my home.

QUEBEC, Jan. 19.—(CP)—The Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph said today in a front-page article that home defence army men have "virtually taken possession" of nearby Valcartier Camp, and "refuse not merely to obey orders but to allow officers to approach headquarters."

The paper said it was rumored the majority of the men who had been given leave before Christmas prior to an imminent transfer still had not returned to the camp in the mountains 25 miles north of Quebec.

Brig. Edmond Blais, officer commanding Military District No. 5 (Quebec), could not be reached immediately for comment upon the report, and his office at the Citadel said he was expected later today.

The paper said it was rumored that men who were to be transferred from the camp refused to leave until they had visited their homes and were given Christmas leave to appease them.

The transfers reportedly was postponed until after the leave, but the paper said, it was rumored a few returned that the "leave" was extended until after the New Year. "Rumor has had it that even today the great majority of those who were allowed to leave Valcartier camp have not returned and there is no indication that any transfers from the camp have yet been made."

The Chronicle-Telegraph said the latest rumor is that the camp commandant or a high district officer was "man-handled" last week-end, "yet so far no statement has been forthcoming."

"One fact is that somebody was shot and seriously wounded at Valcartier between six weeks and two months ago," the paper said.

"This was privately admitted from district headquarters at the time. Also the shooting was said to have been accidental but the newspapers were asked to withhold publication of any news pending the holding of the court of inquiry."

To Red Army

Lodz, Greatest Polish Industrial Town, Falls

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(Reuters)—Lodz, the greatest industrial town in Poland and the country's big cotton manufacturing centre, was captured by the Red Army today, a fifth order of the day from Marshal Stalin announced.

By BRUCE MUNN
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(BUP)—Marshal Stalin announced today that the Red army had captured the old Polish capital of Krakow and in the two new offensives had overrun 600 East Prussian towns and rocked the Germans back 50 miles through the Carpathian foothills of Poland.

A series of special orders of the day by Stalin reported a landslide of Russian triumphs bearing out a Moscow assertion that the entire Nazi front across Poland had collapsed.

Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian Army was revealed to have stormed the defences of East Prussia five days ago. He broke through on a 37-mile front, slugged westward up to 28 miles, and drove a foremost spearhead 35 miles inside the German province.

TAKE SCHLOSSBERG

Stalin's order to Cherniakhovsky's said his army had captured the fortress city of Schlossberg, 28 miles northeast of the vital Insterburg transport centre and scores of other sizeable towns as deep in east Prussia as Kraupischken, 39 miles from the border and 17 north-east of Insterburg.

Also captured were Schillenen, 25 miles northeast of Gumbinnen; Landsheiden, 25 miles northeast of Insterburg; Kussen, six west of Schlossberg and 17 from the border; Naumeningen, 12 north of Gumbinnen and 25 inside the province and Lengwetten, 13 southeast of Tilsit.

Announcement of Cherniakhovsky's offensive completed the line-up of five powerful Russian armies in action on a winding front of between 400 and 500 miles, most of it in Poland. From north to south they were the Third White Russian Army, the Second White Russian power—"not necessarily of the heads of governments who have heavy charges to bear and cannot constantly meet"—but at least of foreign secretaries.

Mr. Eden said the British government had never opposed the leftist EAM party (National Liberation Front) becoming the government of Greece but had insisted the decision must be reached "through the medium of the ballot box."

NOT A SURPRISE

"Problems now confronting us in liberated Europe have not come altogether as a surprise," Mr. Eden said. "The advance of the victorious Allied armies is going to present us with many more such problems."

The foreign secretary said a government white paper dealing with guerrilla bands in Greece was being prepared.

Mr. Eden spoke at the end of a two-day debate during which a small band of Labor members criticized Britain's intervention policy in Greece.

CRITICIZES CHURCHILL

Aneurin Bevan, a bitter and persistent critic of Mr. Churchill, charged that the Prime Minister distorted facts and had "the worst record of intervention in other people's affairs of any statesman" in a speech which drew protests from the House.

"There is no single politician more capable of distorting facts than the Prime Minister," Mr. Bevan said.

He claimed secret commitments by Mr. Churchill were a factor in "the Greek tragedy."

As a war debate went into its second day, the government sent out urgent orders to members to attend to muster its full strength against radical factions of the Labor party and some independents and Liberals.

Mr. Churchill's denunciation of

Born in Saskatoon, AB. Johnson was 20 years old. He came to Edmonton in 1932 and attended Oliver and Spruce Avenue Public and Victoria High schools. He joined the RCNVR in April, 1942, one month before his eighteenth birthday. A younger brother, AB. Haldor Johnson, is now serving his second year at sea with the RCNVR.

the left-wing Elia forces in Greece as "Trotskyites and dirtier than Germans" came in for particularly heavy fire from the opposition.

ATTACKS CHURCHILL

The Liberal party leader, Sir Percy Harris, in opening debate, accused the prime minister of "oversimplifying the issue by giving us lurid pictures of these armed bands as mere Communist organizations."

He said some Communists may have "cash in" on the Elia, but contended that up to the liberation of Greece the Elia was "a popular movement drawn from all sections in Greece and all parties."

Leslie Hore-Belisha, Britain's war minister at the outbreak of the war, brought cheers when he declared that to take the stand that "our interest ceases the moment Germans have been driven out of a country is to maintain that we have merely... a negative mission—the beating of an enemy—and anybody who has sufficient weapons can come along and rob the fruits of our victory."

Marshall A. E. Godfrey, CCF candidate, to answer.

Air Marshal Godfrey "speaks on behalf of the Socialist party," said Mr. Case. "He should tell the people of one Socialist country which is not ruled by a one-party government."

"The people in Germany and the people in Russia vote but there is only one way they can vote."

"BITTER" ATTACKS ON CCF CLAIMED

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Jan. 19.—(CP)—The true indication of the strength of the CCF in the Grey North federal by-election campaign was the "bitterness with which the old parties are attacking us," Air Vice-Marshal A. Earl Godfrey said at a campaign meeting last night.

"As a comparative newcomer to active politics, I must say I have been amazed by the amount of unscrupulous and obvious false propaganda about the CCF which has been spread about by one of my opponents particularly," he said. Mr. Godfrey later told newspapermen he referred to W. Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate.

"DELIBERATE FALSEHOOD"

"He is shooting off misrepresentations and deliberate falsehoods like so many political buzz-bombs, letting them go without aim or direction in the blind hope that if he fires off enough of them, some will find a mark somewhere."

"He must feel very sure that the CCF has taken a commanding lead in this campaign when he feels it necessary to resort to such desperate tactics."

JOLLIFFE THINKS KING CAN'T FACE MUSIC

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Jan. 19.—(CP)—E. B. Joliffe, Ontario leader of the CCF, said last night if rumors were correct that Prime Minister Mackenzie King will call a general election before Feb. 5, "it only means he can't face the music in Grey North and must know his government is going down to defeat."

Speaking at a CCF rally in favor of Air Vice-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, CCF candidate in the federal by-election Feb. 5, Mr. Joliffe said: The CCF stood for elimination of all distinctions between draftee and volunteer personnel, as well as for removal of all distinction on the home front in industry and wealth.

WANT TOTAL EFFORT

"Some call this conception of wealth. Call it what you will. We want to be satisfied until every plant and every office is engaged in useful work that contributes either to the war effort or to the maintenance of life and essential services on the home front."

"Look at the costly advertisements in Toronto papers enticing people to gamble in mining stocks. Is this racketeering essential industry? Will gambling help win the war?"

SAYS McNAUGHTON SHOULD HAVE SEAT

THORNHURST, Ont., Jan. 19.—(CP)—Veterans Minister MacKenzie told a political rally last night that the government did not know whether events within the next few weeks would require that another session of parliament be held but if another session is held Defence Minister McNaughton should have a seat in the Commons.

Speaking in this town, 35 miles from Owen Sound, Mr. MacKenzie said: "Political parties would never fight—along the old lines again."

"You will never find the Progressive Conservatives fighting along the old lines. The Liberals will never fight along the old lines—they will fight on very advanced lines."

NO NATIONAL ISSUES

National issues were not at stake in the Feb. 5 Grey North by-election in which General McNaughton is opposed by Garfield Case, Progressive Conservative candidate, and Air-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, retired RCAF officer and CCF candidate.

In the by-election, the government was asking the people of Grey North constituency to assist in the carrying out of a vigorous war effort. In the general election, the public could judge whether or not they approved of what the government had done during its term of office, he said.

Mr. MacKenzie said Canada was ahead of the whole Allied world in rehabilitation legislation.

Some $5,000,000 already had been spent to buy up 215,000 acres of land and 2,000 farm homes which would be turned over to veterans who wished to take advantage of provisions of the Veterans' Land Act.

Fined $5,000

QUEBEC, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Charles, Belzil, Quebec garage owner, was sentenced yesterday in court by Judge Laflamme to pay a fine of $5,000 and costs or spend six months in jail on a charge of having obtained fraudulently sale permits for 838 tires. The fine is believed to be one of the highest yet imposed for violation of wartime prices and trade board regulations.

End Conference

QUEBEC, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Rome Catholic Archbishop of Canada last night wound up their annual conference which opened Wednesday under the chairmanship of Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec. It was announced that a statement of the conference would be issued Friday.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"He's giving the boys a lecture on the evils of gambling!"

Stage Raid For Information

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(CP)—The raid by two Commando units of the 1st Canadian Army on Schouwen Island north of the Scheldt Estuary was seen unofficially here last night as an information-gathering sortie to determine enemy strength on that Netherlands island, and to plot probable V-2 bases from which rockets are being hurled against England.

Additionally it is conjectured that the Germans may have been planning a diversionary thrust from Schouwen, and the raid probably would thwart such a scheme and keep the enemy on the defensive.

The Schouwen operation, carried out against the town of Zierikzee, will prove of value when the Allies decide the time is ripe for a new campaign in Holland to free the great port of Rotterdam from German control.

Zierikzee is believed to be a base from which V-2 rocket bombs are launched.

Ask Province For More Help In Education

pointed out that taxes on land have risen in the last few years, but that cost of schools was also up. Teachers' salaries had been increased, and more and more children were taking high school instruction.

The government has greatly increased its education grants, Mr. Hennig stated, but increased cost of education has resulted in grants per school room being slightly below previous figures.

"Education is no longer a local responsibility," he said. "Many trustees say the federal government should contribute to the cost. The senior governments have broader sources of income than the local governments, which can only tax land."

"Education is a Dominion matter," one delegate stated. "The Dominion should contribute at least three-quarters of its cost. We should demand it pays at least half."

Another delegates pointed out the Ontario government has taken over 50 per cent. of education costs.

OPPOSES MOTION

J. M. Wheatley, Chancellor, opposed a motion calling on the department of education to revert its summer holiday schedules to the "two months of July and August."

"The war is not over yet," he told the convention. "The school term was changed to help with the war effort. We know the help school boys have given us at harvest time, but a hue and cry has risen from the urban areas and a compromise settlement arrived at."

"The labor situation will be worse in the next two years," Mr. Wheatley continued. "I will have no objection to going back to the former holiday system, as soon as the labor situation is relieved."

The motion was tabled for one year.

A third resolution was passed Friday morning opposing taxation of co-operatives.

"If we are taxed on the excess earnings of our co-ops, it will affect us right down to our local organizations," one delegate said.

T. Fitzgerald observed co-ops haven't been taxed for 100 years, but now they're showing a little too hard, so they're showing without dissent.

Social Legislation Is Claimed Unpopular

REGINA, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Social legislation such as now operates under the Australian Labor government is not popular with the majority of the people in Australia nor with the doctors, Dr. T. F. Donnelly, Liberal member of Parliament for Wood Mountain constituency, said Wednesday night at a Regina Retail Druggists' Association banquet.

Dr. Donnelly returned recently from a visit to Australia and New Zealand as a member of the British Empire parliamentary association. The Australian people suggested that before Saskatchewan or Canada considered legislation providing health insurance and other health plans, the matter should be weighed carefully, he said.

"Health insurance in Australia tends to draw the poorer doctors and make the better ones remain in private practice. Poorer doctors become merely prescription writers and make no examinations of the patients. Hospitals are filled to capacity most of the time with patients who did not require hospital care, so that doctors working under the scheme may collect fees for the hospitalized patients," Dr. Donnelly said.

A soldier needs 305 pounds of meat in a year, but the average civilian needs only 172 pounds.

Soviets Capture Former Polish Capital of Krakow

Army, the First White Russian Army, the First Ukrainian Army and the Fourth Ukrainian Army.

OTHER CAPTURES

Stalin's fourth order of the day announced the capture of Mlawa, Plock and Dzialdowo, the latter 75 miles northwest of Warsaw, 90 miles southeast of Danzig on the Baltic and three miles west of the southernmost tip of East Prussia.

Mlawa is 64 miles north of Warsaw and seven miles south of the East Prussian frontier, and Plock is 35 miles northwest of Warsaw at the junction of several transport lines.

The First Ukrainian Army stormed Krakow today while other Russian forces were driving into Lodz, Poland's second largest city and biggest industrial centre, and were reported unofficially to be probing into Germany beyond the Silesian border.

A fourth Red army was revealed to have joined the great Russian offensive. The fourth Ukrainian army went into action Monday in the Carpathian border area of South Poland, broke through on a broad front, and advanced up to 30 miles.

FRONTAL ASSAULT

Marshal Stalin, in his second order of the day today after first reporting the new offensive, announced that Krakow fell to Marshal Ivan S. Konev's force which stormed the city frontally while sending other units around it in a flanking manoeuvre.

Stalin called Krakow "the ancient capital and the most important cultural and political centre of our ally, Poland, a powerful centre of defence of the Germans covering the Dabrowa coal mining district."

The Moscow radio said the entire German front in Poland had collapsed, and warned the Nazis that they must surrender now if they are to sidestep utter and imminent catastrophe.

Soviet dispatches indicated that the sweep through Poland had carried across the border into German Silesia, and the Nazi high command admitted that the Battle of Germany had begun with a violent struggle for the homeland's "eastern provinces."

NEW OFFENSIVE

Marshal Stalin, in one of his earliest special orders of the day ever broadcast from Moscow, announced the opening of the new offensive in the Polish-Slovak border area in concert with the advance by the left wing of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army.

Gen. Ivan Y. Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian Army jumped off from a springboard west of Sanok last Monday, broke through a strongly fortified German defence system, and in four days of bloody battles advanced up to 50 miles on a 37-mile front.

Petrov drove across the Wisloka and Dunajec rivers, and captured more than 400 towns and villages including Jaslo, 71 miles southeast of Krakow, and Gorlice, 15 miles southwest of Jaslo.

NAZIS HINT MORE

Moscow now has confirmed the synchronized offensives by four Red Armies in Poland. By German account, at least one and possibly two more were in action in and near East Prussia.

Both Moscow and Berlin hinted the battle of Poland was turning into the battle of Germany with an invasion of Silesia, and second hand reports said panic had broken out in the Silesian capital of Breslau and other cities in the border region fronting Poland.

The German high command acknowledged that "on the entire front from the northern slopes of the Carpathians to the Niemen river, the winter battle for the German eastern provinces continues with greatest fierceness."

As the Red Army smashed through Poland, a British United Press dispatch from Moscow said it was storming the old capital of Krakow and the country's second city and greatest industrial centre of Lodz, and both were expected to fall at any time.

REDS JUBILANT

The Moscow radio broadcast one of the most jubilant Soviet pronouncements of the entire war.

General Killed
LONDON, Jan. 19.—(Reuters)—Major-General Hohn, a German commander on the eastern front, has been killed, Moscow radio reported today.

Great Future Is Predicted For Alberta

CALGARY, Jan. 19. — (CP) — Senator W. A. Buchanan, president of The Canadian Press and publisher of the Lethbridge Herald, last night said Alberta would hold an important place in world air development and urged that millions of dollars spent on opening up an entrance to northern British Columbia and Alaska should not be abandoned.

A complete study should be undertaken immediately to ascertain cost of maintenance of highways and possibilities of mineral and agricultural development, he said in an address before the annual meeting of the Calgary Board of Trade.

GREAT POSSIBILITIES

Noting that the meeting featured recognition of members of the Board of Trade of 25 or more years standing, he recalled contributions pioneers had made in the development of Alberta's resources and saw great possibilities ahead for the province.

He emphasized it was the initiative and enterprise of the individual that brought to light Alberta had vast coal and oil resources and that millions of dollars had been spent by individuals in development, sometimes losing their "whole stake" in efforts to prove these resources existed.

If it had not been for the support of free enterprise in "days gone by," Alberta would not have been as far advanced as it is today, he said, adding the pioneers deserve the credit.

Northern Alberta and the Northwest Territories bordering it might "amaze us" with the wealth they would produce. Russia proved Siberia could maintain a population of millions and as the mineral resources of the territories expand, as types of agriculture become adaptable to the territory, the vast area bordering the Mackenzie river might become a market place for Alberta products, he said.

URGES COAL STUDY

He urged that the Royal coal commission, now sitting, should make a complete study of all the uses to which Alberta coal could be used.

The importance of water development was stressed and Senator Buchanan expressed the fear that if action wasn't taken in the immediate future, Canada might suffer the loss of some of its water resources through its failure to carry out obligations it had assumed in treaties with the United States. Irrigation, only hope for considerable areas in southeastern Alberta, could transform dry areas into the most progressive in the province.

Expansion of tourist traffic could be expected as Alberta had within its borders the best-known mountain resorts. A much-improved highway system is needed, he said, adding that if roads weren't improved tourists wouldn't come. No province had as great tourist possibilities as Alberta, if properly exploited.

Alberta, he said, stood next to Quebec and Ontario in its agricultural and industrial possibilities and if the province's coal resources could be used as Germany had used hers, Alberta in time might stand in the premier place.

Jap Suicide Raids On Pacific Coast Are Held Possible

VICTORIA, Jan. 19. — (CP) — Major Gen. George R. Pearkes, general officer commanding in chief, Pacific Command, said last night suicidal raids on this coast by small bands of Japanese as a "face-saving" attempt, were not altogether out of the range of possibilities. Gen. Pearkes, who inspected units of the Victoria reserve army, said:

"If anything of that nature happens we have only a small force of men to meet the situation. We must rely on men of the Reserve Army."

Although there was only the slightest possibility that any such enemy action would occur, he reminded the men that the Japanese still had large numbers of troops and many submarines. These might be used in "suicidal" attempts.

FLANKING THE AGNO

Gardiner Urges Big Reduction Wheat Acreage

REGINA, Jan. 19. — (CP) — Federal Agricultural Minister Gardiner said in addressing the Canadian Federation of Agriculture annual meeting yesterday that Canada has too much wheat for her own good and that there should be a reduction in acreage of from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 compared with 1944.

The minister said he questioned whether Canada has too much wheat when the good of the world was taken into account, but there was an urgent need of feed grains, oil-bearing crops such as flaxseed and added acreage of sweet clover for pasture.

REVIEWS POLICIES

In a review of agricultural policies the minister said:

The United Kingdom has asked Canada to provide at least 600,000,000 pounds of bacon in 1945 under the contract which extends to Dec. 31, 1946. Farmers who find hog production profitable should remain in this activity and if possible expand.

Britain was sent the equivalent of 255,000 head of cattle in the form of beef in nine months of 1944. Purchase of beef for Britain in January, 1945, alone represents the equivalent of 72,000 head.

The farmer on the average-sized family farm in Canada is not receiving an income greater than he should, but rather less than he is entitled to in light of the incomes of other groups.

AGREEMENT NEEDED

If Britain, the United States and Canada could agree on a common medium of exchange with all trade restrictions removed all three countries would benefit. The wider such a system was extended to other countries, the greater the benefit.

Mr. Gardiner spoke at the opening public session of the three-day farmers meeting after H. M. Hannam of Ottawa, president, had said in his annual address that farmers sought a basis of equality in returns as compared with other Canadian groups.

Mr. Gardiner said the farming industry was "the foundation of the state." Farmers never received as much for their production as they should.

OUTLINES NEGOTIATIONS

He reviewed negotiations with the United Kingdom for the sale of bacon in 1935 when export sales were 125,000,000 pounds and in 1940 when Canada said she had 425,000,000 pounds to sell and Britain replied only 380,000,000 pounds were needed. The British then had so little to pay for bacon that he had been attacked by the federation on prices paid. But in attacking these prices the federation was serving agriculture in a proper way, and subsidies finally were granted to assist bacon production.

Canada had proved to Britain she could supply all the bacon needed in peace time and that she could produce the high quality bacon desired.

Britain and the United States both opposed Canada shipping her beef cattle to United States markets at present, preferring direct beef shipments from Canada to the United Kingdom. But, even when shipments to the United States were being made, the limit was 195,000 head a year against the 255,000 head sent the United Kingdom last year. The United States market would be reopened at the earliest possible date after agreement between three nations concerned that this should be done.

PREMIUMS SUCCESSFUL

Mr. Gardiner said the payment of premiums of 10 cents a bushel on oats and 15 cents a bushel on barley sold for feed had operated well and fairly. It had brought equality as between the position of the western farmer who produced feed and the eastern farmer who fed it.

He had forecast four years ago that if the war ended in three years and there was only a two year transition period, Canada might be left with a wheat shortage of 100,000,000 bushels.

He was not sure whether his forecast had been wrong, but at the moment this appeared to be the case and acreage reductions were advisable.

$200,000,000 FUND

The floor prices bill approved by the House of Commons set up a fund of $200,000,000 which would assist farmers in the transition period between war and peace. It recognized the fact that farm conditions at present were being painted as far more rosy than practical farmers knew them to be. In the transitional period there had to be some authority with money ready to aid agriculture.

There must be markets at home and abroad at least for the present Canadian farm production. Prices must be maintained at present levels so farmers could maintain their families as they should.

Coal Problem

TORONTO, Jan. 19. — (CP) — E. R. Lockyer, secretary of the Toronto Coal Exchange, said yesterday consideration was being given a plan to have coal yards in Toronto remain open at night so citizens can take their coal when drivers for coal trucks are not available. Nearly 3,000 homes are reported to be without coal.

Mayors Request Place at the Next Dom.-Prov. Meet

OTTAWA, Jan. 19. — (CP) — A request that the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities be given representation at the next Dominion-provincial conference was made to the federal government yesterday by a delegation consisting of Mayors R. H. Saunders of Toronto, Garnet Coulter of Winnipeg and Lucien Bourne of Quebec.

The delegation was received by Finance Minister Isley and Reconstruction Minister Howe, who promised consideration of this and other requests.

The ministers informed the delegation that cities will have priority in the purchase of ARP equipment—pumps, rubber coats, hoses and other items—now owned by the Dominion.

HOUSING DISCUSSED

In discussing slum clearance and low cost housing, Mr. Saunders asked that the city and province be permitted to put up the 10 per cent of the capital cost of low rental housing projects under the new Housing Act, in which the Dominion contributes 90 per cent.

Mr. Isley said this would not be permitted. The federal government would insist that 10 per cent of the capital cost of limited dividend housing corporations must be private capital, and would not agree to making these corporations wholly public.

Mr. Howe urged municipalities to proceed with plans for post-war works and said the reconstruction department will be in touch with cities "very soon" on procedure for post-war planning.

The federal ministers agreed that the question of the exemption of crown properties from taxation and taxation of the Canadian National Railways would be proper subjects for a dominion-provincial conference.

Yugoslavs Hail Warning Given To Exiled King

LONDON, Jan. 19. — (CP) — Official Yugoslav quarters last night hailed Prime Minister Churchill's warning to King Peter as "excellent" and asserted that the young monarch, his crown practically knocked from his head, "must now realize his grave mistake."

There was the first indication that Peter, realizing he had played for high stakes and lost, was prepared to accept without reservation the Subasic-Tito agreement for establishing a regency and a federal democratic government in Yugoslavia.

Mr. Churchill declared Yugoslavia would have a regency with or without Peter's consent.

Today Peter will see Serb members of the Subasic cabinet for the second time within a week after which he is expected to yield.

In Canada, U.S.

Says Farm Markets Depend On High Employment Level

REGINA, Jan. 19. — (CP) — Howard R. Tolley, chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, said last night that Canada and United States would have to take appropriate domestic action to maintain a high level of non-agricultural employment after the war if farmers in both nations were to maintain production at high levels and were to be assured of markets for their products at reasonable prices.

In addition he will need to co-operate with other nations of the world to the end that an appropriate amount of international trade can be maintained," he said in an address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

A recent study in the U.S. showed that "with full employment our post-war agricultural problems would be manageable, but as the number of unemployed increases the adjustment difficulties not only increase but multiply" and "I am sure that the results are as full of meaning for your farmers as they are for ours."

PRODUCTION IN 1950

With moderate agricultural technological advances, U.S. farmers could produce in 1950 on 20,000,000 acres less cropland than they used in 1943, enough to supply a domestic market based on employment for all who wanted to work and $150,000,000,000 national income as well as to meet the needs of an export market twice as large as that just before the war. Cash income from farm marketing would be about $17,000,000,000, about $2,000,000,000 less than in 1943.

But if we should have about 7,000,000 unemployed—that is, if 12 to 15 per cent of all those who will want jobs are unable to find them—the cash income of farmers would fall to two-thirds that of the full employment level.

"With the recurrence of a depression such as we had in the 1930's, farm income would fall to one-third that of the full employment level but farm production would decline very little and farm markets would be glutted and demoralized."

WORKABLE PROGRAM

Mr. Tolley suggested that a workable program for international collaboration on post-war economics would fall into four main categories: co-operative stabilization of international exchange; co-operative expansion of international investment; co-operative development of food and agriculture programs; co-operative development of positive programs to expand international trade.

The United Nations had discussed a proposal for a permanent international agricultural agency at the Hot Springs conference of June, 1943, and a specific plan for such an organization had been since evolved by the interim commission on food and agriculture.

Canada and United States were specially equipped to carry out the aims of balancing production and consumption of food products on an international scale. They could plan with each other and with other nations what they would trade with each other, what they would want to import and what they would want to export.

Oppose Invitation

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 19. — (Reuters) — H. Wells, general president of the Australian Coal Miners Federation, opposed yesterday the suggestion of Commerce Minister Keane that John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, should be invited to visit Australia. Mr. Wells said Mr. Lewis was aligned with American reaction and his influence in Australia would be destructive.

QUEBEC, Jan. 19. — (CP) — Premiers Stuart S. Garson of Manitoba and E. C. Manning of Alberta were in Quebec yesterday and conferred for several hours with Premier Duplessis.

Mr. Manning, head of Alberta's Social Credit government, declined to comment further than that he is here on "purely routine government business."

Early last night, both Mr. Manning and the Manitoba Liberal government chief were in conference with the head of Quebec's Union Nationale government.

None of the three premiers would make any statement when the meeting ended early last night. The two western premiers left Quebec last night.

The Royal Bank of Canada Annual Meeting

Morris W. Wilson, President, says continued Canadian development depends on world-wide system of trading based on international monetary and exchange stability. Urges Canada to be one of first to approve principles of Bretton Woods Conference.

Sydney G. Dobson, Vice-President and General Manager, reports total assets at all-time peak with year's increase greatest in history of bank; southern branches in unique position to facilitate Latin-American trade.

The vital importance of Canada's future welfare of a healthy foreign trade based on international monetary and exchange stability was emphasized by Morris W. Wilson, President of The Royal Bank of Canada at the bank's Annual Meeting.

Canada owed her economic development from earliest days, said Mr. Wilson, to foreign trade and the level of pre-war exports would not only have to be maintained after the war, but actually expanded, possibly to double their pre-war value, if Canada was to secure an adequate national income.

FOREIGN TRADE PROBLEMS

"Normally we export considerably more to Great Britain and other countries of the Empire than we import from them. On the other hand, our imports from the United States are usually in excess of our exports to that country. Under normal exchange conditions, this situation is relatively simple to adjust. Our sterling balances, accumulated through exports to the Empire, were readily exchangeable for U.S. dollars, which in turn we used to purchase the goods we needed from the United States."

"War-time experience, however, has shown the difficulties which arise when this multilateral system of trade balances breaks down. As a result of the control of sterling made necessary by the war, Canada has been forced to depend upon her own devices for liquidation of British balances, through interest-free loans, mutual aid and the repatriation of Canadian securities. We were also forced to restrict purchases and travel in the United States, in order to reduce the demand for U.S. dollars, thereby making it easier for us to pay for essential imports. If the world should be divided into exclusive trading areas after the war, as is frequently suggested, of which one might be based on the dollar and another on the U.S. dollar, Canada would be in a peculiarly disadvantageous position since she properly belongs in neither group. Our membership in the British Commonwealth of Nations, and the coincidence that our unit of currency is named "dollar" as in the United States, create an anomalous situation, and obscure our true position in the eyes of many businessmen. These factors, and our own selfish interests, we are compelled to prefer a world-wide system of trading. There is no altruism about it."

CANNOT STAND ALONE

"If international trade on the broadest scale is not fully restored, what can Canada do independently to preserve her foreign markets? There are certain obvious measures, notably maintenance and improvement of the quality of our exports, vigorous salesmanship, and the acceptance of imports from countries to which we export, up to the limit either of their capacity to sell to us, or of our ability to absorb their products. These are basic principles which Canada can and should adopt, whatever the rest of the world may do."

"What other alternatives will be normally available to us? In the first place, we might have restricted our exports to the ability of foreign markets to pay for our products. Since many of our major export commodities are produced on a scale out of all proportion to our own consumption, the subsequent unemployment of men and resources, the agricultural depression, and the social problems which would arise, would build up a load that our economy and our people could not support. Secondly, Canada might provide credits to countries desiring to import goods on a basis similar to the credits which have been established during the war, but with the hope of ultimate repayment. Finally, we could subsidize exports."

"Furthermore, as I stated a year ago, I believe it would be sound policy for Canada not only to extend liberal long-term credits to countries which export to us, but also to buy Canadian products, but in special cases to make outright gifts of goods, raw materials, finished goods and machinery to assist and hasten the rehabilitation of such countries."

"Thus far could we go, independently of the policies of other powers. But a moment of consideration will show how short our resources of success would be without international co-operation."

Mr. Wilson reviewed the function of gold as an international currency prior to and after the last war but pointed out that the "gold standard" was never entirely automatic in its operation. "The system could never have been maintained," he said, "without the unrivaled supremacy of the City of London in the foreign exchange and international investment markets, the degree of liquidity it maintained in the great foreign loans it floated, the willingness of Great Britain to accept imports of goods and services for payment on loans and last but by no means least, the knowledge and experience of the great London banks and financial houses."

NATIONS FORSAKE RULES

In the second place, all countries observed the code of economic ethics set up by the gold standard. Fundamental changes in this system took place following the last war, said Mr. Wilson, and the international economic system, disrupted by the war, remained out of balance and the disequilibrium became intensified. Countries ceased to abide by the rules and no longer sought to adjust their domestic policies to the requirements of the gold standard system and with the breakdown and abandonment of the standard in 1931, each country set out on its own course. "Instead of adjusting domestic prices and production to the needs of international exchange stability and balanced payments on international accounts, countries began to manipulate exchange rates as a means of increasing domestic and foreign trade in order to maintain employment at home. International trade became disrupted, with every country seeking to force its exports on others, but to reduce imports to a minimum. Competitive exchange depreciation, higher and higher tariffs on imports, quantitative quotas and bulk purchases, and similar measures, were utilized by all countries in greater or less degree. Well over a third of total world trade was conducted on a basis of crude barter. With the collapse of the gold standard, there disappeared the only cooperative system for the co-ordination of national economic policies; in its absence, sovereign countries, acting independently and without regard for the external consequences of their policies, inevitably drifted toward international economic chaos."

Upon this chaos, said Mr. Wilson, had now been superimposed the disequilibrium of a second World War. The great importing countries including Great Britain and those of Europe had suffered devastation, destruction of their industrial machinery and, particularly Great Britain, loss of overseas markets. Other countries, notably those of North America, had found their industries and agriculture greatly expanded. "In order to maintain employment," said Mr. Wilson, "it was necessary for these countries and particularly for Canada, to export to an extent greater than was necessary even before 1939."

BRETTON WOODS

Mr. Wilson dealt at length with the Bretton Woods Conference last summer, the efforts of four countries sought to evolve a system of international control of foreign exchange and investment with a view to providing exchange stability. He readily admitted that the Bretton Woods program was a panacea for post-war problems but he pointed out that practical businessmen were largely in agreement with the Bretton Woods experts. "The demand for U.S. dollars, then, by making it easier for us to pay for essential imports. If the world should be divided into exclusive trading areas after the war, as is frequently suggested, of which one might be based on the dollar and another on the U.S. dollar, Canada would be in a peculiarly disadvantageous position since she properly belongs in neither group. Our membership in the British Commonwealth of Nations, and the coincidence that our unit of currency is named "dollar" as in the United States, create an anomalous situation, and obscure our true position in the eyes of many businessmen. These factors, and our own selfish interests, we are compelled to prefer a world-wide system of trading. There is no altruism about it."

"It appears to me," said Mr. Wilson, "that the next step in preparation for the general resumption of foreign trade after the war must be discussions and agreement between the governments on commercial policy. If some standard of commercial policy is not established prior to the resumption of general trading, we may see the continuance of the predatory practices of the pre-war era."

"Canadian economic development, in the future as in the past, depends upon the maintenance and development of international trade. Monetary stability is one of the prerequisites of international trade. For Canada, therefore, monetary stability is of paramount importance. If we acknowledge these premises, the course of action is clear. We must implement the measures necessary to secure them. I sincerely hope that Canada will be one of the first to approve the principles of the Bretton Woods agreements, leaving the Government free to deal with matters of detail in consultation and agreement with the other countries concerned."

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

In presenting the Annual Balance Sheet, Sydney G. Dobson, Vice-President and General Manager, pointed out total assets were now at the record level of $1,790,251,802, and that the increase in assets during the year was the greatest in the history of the bank. The liquid position was exceedingly strong, he said. Total Liquid Asset representing 81.6% of the bank's liabilities to the Public. Networth was the increase in the number of Deposit Account Customers which now totaled 1,450,000. Profits for the year, after providing for Dominion Government Tax, amounted to $3,821,183, an increase of $385,894.

Mr. Dobson reported steady development of the bank's foreign business in the Caribbean and South America. "The great American countries," he said, "are potential purchasers of large quantities of equipment of all kinds for modernizing and expanding already established manufacturing facilities, for developing new industries, and carrying out public works programs. A growing interest in Canada and Canadian products is evident, and it is hoped that our manufacturers, exporters, and importers will reciprocate this interest. Our well-placed branches are in a unique position to offer assistance in the development of trade between Latin America and Canada."

TRIBUTE TO STAFF

The General Manager reported that the staff, not including those in the armed services, now totaled 2,241, compared with only 215 in 1939. While the more experienced officers have been under great personal pressure, because of the need to train and help inexperienced newcomers, they have performed splendidly in the duties allotted to them. All of our officers serve with a sense of public responsibility as well as of duty to the bank.

"Leave of absence for military service has been granted to 225 of our officers since the war started, of whom 2,194 enlisted from Canadian branches. This is equal to 74% of the Canadian male officers who were under 45 at the time of the outbreak of the war. Looking to the problems of the post-war years, Mr. Dobson stated that one of the most important considerations would be the placing in satisfactory positions of the members of the staff who were serving in the armed services. "This matter," he said, "is foremost in our minds and is being given careful study. The bank has given great consideration to the problem in many cases will undergo great changes in the transition period from war production to peace production. In this transition we shall be called upon to play an important part in assisting financially in helping to bring about this change. It may be necessary for us to revise to some extent the existing practice of making loans for short terms only, and in certain circumstances to consider loans extending over a period of two, three, or five years to meet changed conditions."

"I am not implying that we should be making out of policy of prudent banking, but because of our large holdings of readily negotiable Government securities, we have no reason to fear our liquidity, adding deserving borrowers with longer term loans."

"Your bank is strong financially and is well equipped to handle post-war financing, and we shall consider our patriotic duty to play our full part in assisting business generally in becoming re-established."

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

BACK in Edmonton, this time in connection with the Canadian Athletic Club deal, William J. (Bill) Tobin, president of the Chicago Black Hawks, was just as agreeable as ever, as he sat in the rotunda of the "Mac" waiting for hoped-for signal from an obliging clerk that his name finally had hit the top of the waiting list.

"We are not just thinking of this year, or even next—we are building for the future. That is why I came and I am here. I am making an arrangement tonight which will be mutually advantageous to both organizations. I think Chicago offers an excellent opportunity to young players, and it's not only a faint smile and almost crept in here because they are at the bottom of the NHL standings. We always try to be fair and find it pays."

PERSONAL INTEREST HERE

HAVING had my home here for several years, naturally I have a personal interest in Edmonton and so am doubly anxious to establish a direct player connection with the Canadians.

"You know a lot of good hockey players have been developed in this city. Art, Willie, Bill and Bobby Carle, Neil and Mac Colville, Louis Holmes, Leroy Goldworthy, Roger Jenkins, Paul Runge, 'Red' Beattie, Morey Rimstad, Gene Carrigan, Johnny MacKinnon, just to name a few—and there'll be others."

"And don't forget either, that two of the greatest of all time, came from the west—Eddie Shore and Bill Cowley. And it may be a mighty long time too, before any better are produced."

SEES HOCKEY STILL "BIGGER"

REGARDING the Babe Seibert deal—"It was hard to part with a player who had seven times as many points as I had, but I had to be right on it," but Gross, McDonald and Simon already have helped our club.

Hill Counts First Six Ends In Winning Vets' Challenge

Five straight victories, including a 13-8 triumph over John Colville in the final Thursday morning, won the grand challenge honors and Gravelle cup for Bert Hill's Edmonton Club rink in the annual bonspiel of the Veteran's Curling Association.

Counting on the first six ends gave the Hill quartet its victory. It took a 1-4 lead and then coasted through the last half by only counting once. Colville's crew from the Alberta Avenue club managed to pick up eight on the last six ends, but were unable to overcome the big lead.

The Hill rink blazed through the qualifying round with four straight wins and then wound up with the only perfect record by handing Colville his first defeat in the play-off.

Score by ends:
Hill 221 222 010 000—13
Colville 000 000 102 212—8
Personnel of rinks:
A. Hill (skip), George Laight, Bill Tansley, W. Richards, John Colville (skip), A. P. Gregory, Bill Ruff, George Stott.

SECONDARY FINAL

W. C. Townsley, Alberta Avenue skip, reached a new peak in the veterans' bonspiel Thursday when he won the McCafferty cup and secondary honors with an easy 17-5 victory over J. B. Gagnon, Royal, in that final.

Counting on six straight ends was also the main factor in Townsley's win. Gagnon had a single on the first two, but Townsley came back with a total of 16 on the next six and almost assured himself of the new silverware. Gagnon added six before the game was over, but couldn't hardly supply a threat to the Alberta Avenue skip.

Score by ends:
Townsley 002 432 230 100—17
Gagnon 110 000 003 021—8

Personnel of rinks:
W. C. (Bill) Townsley (skip), W. Gwartney, A. Killups, C. Brunwell, J. B. Gagnon (skip), A. Neilson, W. Pallister, Glenn White.

PRIMARY EVENT

Third prize in the primary competition went to W. G. Walford's Royal curlers who won from the only out of town rink, Arnold Carscadden of Fort Saskatchewan, 13-7 in the play-off for third and fourth.

Taking the last three ends sent the Walford crew on to victory. They held an 8-6 margin at the last of the ninth, and then counted two

Thunderbird to Be Ted Christy's Mat Opponent

Two changes were announced Thursday night in connection with the wrestling program scheduled for the Empire Theatre on Saturday, the first bout of which will commence at 8:30 o'clock.

George Girvin states that due to some border-crossing complications, the Mexican Alberto Carroll will not be able to carry out his date with Ted Christy. And as a result, Chief Thunderbird, the Saanich Indian has been named as "Tarzan" Ted's opponent.

The Moosmelt-Van Velzan and Sgt. Larry Green-Steve Jossell bouts will go ahead as planned. Darby Melnyk will meet "Indian Joe" instead of Harvey Hall of Vancouver. "Indian Joe" was on the last mat card at the Empire.

The advance seat sale opened at Mike's on Thursday.

Dodds Unable to Compete During Coming Season

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Word was received from Stockholm Wednesday that Gunder Haegg, Swedish track star, had completed plans for his winter trip to the United States just a few hours after Gil Dodds, expected to be his major American rival, said he would be unable to compete during the coming season.

Charles Jansson, secretary of the Swedish Amateur Athletic group, told The Associated Press in Stockholm that all the plans had been completed for Haegg and hurdler Hakon Lidman to reach the U.S. by Feb. 2.

Dodds, who lowered the indoor mile time to 4:06.4 at Chicago last spring, announced his retirement in a letter to Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU, in which he said that he expected to leave Boston Sunday for Los Angeles to take up ministerial duties with a gospel group.

Ben Hoffmeister with two, Bill Mellon and Art Proulx were the other snipers who drive the rubber past Gordon Templeman. Louie Holmes with one goal and an assist and Pete Elock with a tally and an assist paced the New Method's attack, which wasn't as strong as the power the club displayed in the previous game.

Swifts, considerably stronger and better organized than in their other two tilts, were almost certain of their win from the late stages of the second canto. They counted one while New Method was short-handed in the first and then took a 3-0 lead early in the second before the losers came back with two goals less than a minute apart to come within one marker of the winners.

Kilburn, Hoffmeister and Proulx all pushed the puck past Templeman before the period ended to give Swifts a 6-2 margin. Mellon and Kilburn added two more for the winners in the last while Holmes banged in a pass out from a face-off by Fred Loftus for the third New Method counter.

Mellon and Bernie Langdon supplied a little additional excitement to the game in the dying minutes when they exchanged blows for a short period. Referee Bill Bunge stepped in fast, though, and banished the two for five minutes.

CROSSLAND BAGS FOUR AS BURNS LOSES 8-2

Bob Crossland, former outstanding senior puck chaser, went on to another scoring rampage last night to show the way to the powerful Street Railway hockeyists in their one-sided 8-2 win over Burns Shamrocks.

Crossland drove home four goals, three in the second, which was all Street Railway's as far as the scoring goes, and netted one in the first.

Street Railway counted two while the Burns club was picking up one in the first period, to take a 2-1 lead, and then out-played the Shamrocks to add four without reply in the second to boost their margin to 6-1.

Burns netted first in the third, but George McPherson came back midway through the frame to

Three-Way Tie for Lead In Independent Puck Loop

A three-way tie for the leadership of the City Independent Hockey League resulted last night when Swifts swamped New Method 8-3 and the fast skating Street Railway Club smothered the winless Burns Shamrocks 8-2 in the double-header staged at the Arena.

Young Colin Kilburn, goaltender for the South Side club in the junior circuit, proved he is a worthy forward as well when he rapped in four goals and assisted in another to lead Swifts to the victory which moved them into a first place tie.

Ben Hoffmeister with two, Bill Mellon and Art Proulx were the other snipers who drive the rubber past Gordon Templeman. ## Puck School In Calgary Next Spring

AN agreement whereby Canadian Athletic Club and Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League will co-operate for three seasons terminating Oct. 1, 1947, was announced following a meeting here Thursday night between William J. (Bill) Tobin, president of the Hawks and officials of the city sports organization, head of which is R. F. Blackmer.

Canadians, present unbeaten leaders in the Edmonton Junior hockey league race, hereafter will be recognized as a Chicago sponsored club, as will Moose Jaw Canucks, with whom an arrangement also has just been made. Under current NHL regulations, member clubs are permitted to sponsor just two amateur teams.

Incidental to the arrangements just completed here and in Moose Jaw, the Black Hawk president stated his organization will operate a hockey school in Calgary next spring, primarily for players of the two sponsored clubs, but possibly a few others may be invited to attend. Coach Paul Thompson and several members of the NHL team will be on hand to assist.

Mr. Tobin also announced that the Black Hawks "most likely" will do their pre-season training in Canada next fall, and that a "western Canadian city" would be selected.

No direct subsidies are contemplated under the arrangement with the Canadians as explained by President Tobin, the agreement merely providing that every time a player is signed, the Canadian club will be paid a "handsome" bonus—in other words it is a "per player and not per season" basis.

Mr. Tobin, however, added that of course his club would assist the Canadians in every way possible in order that the arrangement might be of mutual benefit to both organizations, and with the hope of having their sojourn with the Canadians merely a stepping stone for ambitious young players.

The Canadian Athletic Club will continue to "run its own show," but the assistance and advice of Cecil (Tiny) Thompson, chief scout for the Hawks in western Canada (Johnny Gottselig holds a similar position in the east) will always be available. "Tiny" recently discharged from the RCAF was Boston Bruins' goalie for 10 years, later going to Detroit for two before joining the Air Force.

"Tiny" Thompson will be in Edmonton next week and will attend an "introduction" dinner next Wednesday at which members of the Canadian junior squad will be guests of President Tobin.

The Chicago Black Hawk prey also intends to make each of the players a "little personal gift" of a blazer "if they can be purchased."

Canadian Athletic Club officials are Ralph F. Blackmer, president; Ken Henry and Val Berg, vice-presidents; Lloyd MacLachlin, secretary; Gordon Campbell, treasurer; Smythe Fleming, Herb Shires, Frank Hinchberger, Bob Murdoch and Herb Webb, directors. Clarence Mohr is junior hockey coach.

In addition to the juniors, Canadian Athletic Club hockey set-up includes three teams in the City Bantam League, six in the club's own pee-wee circuit, and two each in both city midget and juvenile loops.

Mrs. Brown Has Five Victories

Two Rinks Still Unbeaten In Women's Annual Bonspiel

Four of the six previously unbeaten rinks took a tumble on Thursday, the third day of play in the Women's Curling Association bonspiel being held at the Alberta Avenue ice, leaving only two city crews with perfect records up to last night.

The two with untouched records at the beginning of the fourth day's play were Mrs. O. A. Brown from the Granite with five straight victories, a noticeable effort, and Mrs. R. L. Smith of the Alberta Avenue club with four wins.

The three country quartets which were without a loss up to yesterday all were knocked over while the other city crew, skipped by Mrs. A. Christiansen, Royal, Grand Challenge winner two years ago, suffered its first setback at the hands of Mrs. W. Shafer, Royal, in the sixteenth of the primary event.

Mrs. Brown registered two wins Thursday, both in the grand challenge, and moved out to one of the semi-final brackets. Mrs. Shafer is also in that stage along with Mrs. W. Howson. The other semi-finalists will be either Mrs. Pat Rose or Mrs. R. L. Smith, whose lone win yesterday put her in the eighth of the main event.

All games yesterday were in the grand challenge, T. Easton trophy. Hudson's Bay trophy and visitors. First finalists to be declared in the semi-finals of the curling will be either Mrs. T. W. Roberts, Barrhead, she handed Mrs. B. A. McCallum, Leslieville, her initial defeat in the semi-finals of the visitors' competition, 11-7, on the 3 o'clock draw.

Mrs. Brown's Granite curlers are headed for the biggest share of the prizes. The South Side rink is out in the semi-finals of both the city (Dentype), which was at a standstill Thursday, and the grand challenge.

The Granite skip will have tough opposition in the city competition at least. She will meet Mrs. Christiansen's strong Royal, the challenge final berth, while in the challenge it will be either Mrs. Smith or the winner of Mrs. Rose and Mrs. McCallum.

The two unbeaten rinks—the Smiths and Browns—have two opportunities to clash. If Mrs. Smith loses, she will be out of the curling before she reaches the semi-finals of the curling, she may bump into the skillful Mrs. Brown in the city event final.

Following are Thursday's results:
9 A.M. RESULTS

Detroit Defeats Rangers 7-3 After Waiting Over 2 Hours

DETROIT, Jan. 19.—(AP)—In a game delayed two hours and 40 minutes awaiting arrival of the New York Rangers' train, Detroit Red Wings defeated the Rangers Thursday night 7-3 in a National Hockey League clash that wasn't completed until 12:56 a.m.

Hank Gaudp's first-period goal with two Detroiters in the penalty box and Fred Thurier's major penalty shot that he put by Detroit goalie Harry Lumley just 16 seconds before the opening stanza ended kept the Rangers in the game for 20 minutes.

After that Red Wings cracked a 2-all tie with goals by Murray Armstrong and Earl Seibert before the second period was 24 minutes old and added three more before Phil Watson connected for New York's third of the game late in the final period.

Two of the Detroit goals were registered by rookie leftwinger Tony Bukovich and two others by the veteran Joe Carveth.

Detroit's victory put the Wings within four points of the leading Montreal Canadiens, whom they meet here next Sunday.

Joe Louis Admits Fight With Conn To Be His Last

CAMP SHANKS, N.Y., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Staff Sgt. Joe Louis, world heavyweight boxing champion, said today that "it's true that I am going to defend my title only once after the war and that Billy Conn will be my opponent."

Regardless of the fight's outcome, Louis said, he would then quit the ring.

The London edition of the Stars and Stripes, American army newspaper, will say today in an article by Pie, Tony Cordaro, former Des Moines, Ia., boxing writer, that Louis intended to fight only once—against Conn—and then quit the ring.

Louis said Thursday that Conn "deserves the first crack at the title. He is the No. 1 contender and gave me my hardest fight." Conn was ahead on points when Louis knocked him out in the 13th round of their first meeting on June 18, 1941, in New York.

Jim Rutherford Rolls High Score

Bowling in the Thursday night mixed league last night Jim Rutherford came very close to achieving the bowlers' dream. Jim rolled a total of 415 pins, having ten strikes in a row and then on his eleventh ball just missed hitting the head pin.

He also put two other good games together with this 415 and rolled a total of 935 pins.

Incidentally just last night, rolling in the Men's Commercial League, Jim started a game with nine strikes in a row and ended that game with a 383 total.

His big single game and fine triple helped his team to break the high team single and triple games with 1,338 and 3,612 pins in the Thursday night mixed league. His team is named the Screwballs, but Jim set out last night to improve the name by his fine display of bowling.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(BUP)—It was a somewhat blurred "green light" that President Roosevelt gave baseball on the eve of Wednesday's promised message to congress on national service regulation—a message almost certain to urge immediate passage of the pending work or fight bill.

The President said he was all for baseball; but he had to temper this statement with modifications that seem ambiguous—capable of many interpretations. He favored continuance of baseball if it's possible to do so without hurting the employment of people in the war effort or the building of the army. He added emphatically that he did not think perfectly healthy young men should be playing ball at this time.

Baseball people, who have been clamoring for a show down on the government's attitude toward continuance of the diamond sport, following the ban on racing, generally interpreted the president's remarks at Tuesday's press conference as an indirect go ahead for the game. There was general relief and a bit of jubilation—a feeling that baseball has passed the war hump and that it may be able to continue for the duration.

FAVORS CONTINUANCE
PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT unquestionably favors continuance of the game, if such continuance will not conflict with his work or fight program.

Baseball—cleanest of all professional sports—has the backing of church, education, corrective and civic organizations because of its wartime importance as an indirect preventive of juvenile delinquency. It also has the support of many leaders because of its contributions to civilian and service morale.

However, the work or fight bill sponsored by chairman Andrew J. May, D. Ky., of the house military committee, would force every man between 18 and 45—including 4-F's—to get in a war job or stay on the one he now occupies, through occupational deferment, under penalty of induction into special labor

Dave Castilloux Scores Knockout

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Dave Castilloux, holder of the Canadian lightweight and welterweight titles, stepped back on the major fistful ladder here Thursday night, when he stopped Bobby Gunther of Detroit in the sixth round of a scheduled 10 rounder.

The Montrealer weighed 138½ pounds to 135 for Gunther. Beaten by a technical knockout in his last outing against Ike Williams of New York, Castilloux had little trouble against the rangy Gunther. He sent the colored boy to the canvas for counts of eight and five before finally applying the "sleeper" and the judges voted every round in Castilloux's favor.

UFA Opposes End Of Sunday Shooting Ban

The Alberta government, recently in receipt of a petition urging Sunday shooting be allowed in the province, will receive a counter-petition on the same subject in the near future.

The United Farmers of Alberta, now in convention at the Macdonald hotel, Thursday afternoon went on record against removal of the Sunday ban. A resolution opposing Sunday hunting was introduced into the convention by Red Deer local of the UFA and received almost unanimous support of delegates.

Speaking in support of the resolution, a Red Deer delegate said a circular was now in circulation in the province urging lifting of the Sunday ban.

"We feel this would deplete game birds by 50 per cent, and accidents and damage to property would increase by 50 per cent," he said.

"We feel we owe a lot to businessmen of the province and actually we provide them with their livelihood," the delegate said. "We do not feel we should provide them with recreation as well."

A second resolution covering application of grants of land and money to veterans upon return from overseas service was thrashed out at considerable length by delegates.

The motion, already referred back for redrafting after discussion earlier in the week, was sent back to the redrafting committee for further revision at Thursday afternoon sittings.

FREE GRANT URGED
The resolution submitted Thursday came from Byemore local, and called for a free grant of land or cash for soldiers wishing them at the time of their discharge. No conditions or stipulations were to be attached to the grant.

Objecting to this plan, one delegate declared "there should be strings attached to the grants, until the men can prove they can handle them in a responsible manner."

"A free grant of land is a paltry gift for the sacrifices being offered overseas," another delegate observed. He suggested the boys returning "should be given at least an even chance" by means of a grant.

A motion to strike to words "or cash" from the motion, making it call for a straight land grant, was offered but later withdrawn.

"After the last war, the boys had to go on the land in order to get anything at all," a delegate stated. "If we are going to give land to the boys, let us see to it they get land from which they can get a living."

CONSULTATION URGED
Another delegate speaking to the resolution said before anything definite was done, veterans of the last war or Canadian Legion officials should be consulted.

"Free grants of land can mean anything or nothing," another UFA member told the convention. He suggested the present government policy of giving cash payments to veterans would invalidate the resolution, and urged the motion should call for a land grant or cash in lieu thereof.

The motion was then sent back for further redrafting.

Other resolutions passed Thursday endorsed the quota system of marketing the Canadian grain crop; backed the Canadian Federation of Agriculture in its health insurance proposals; called on the provincial and Dominion governments to do everything possible to prevent spread of TB and cancer, and called for members' support of UFA co-op stores wherever located.

Bracken Talks With Churchill

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(CP)—John Bracken, national leader of the Canadian Progressive Conservative party, talked with Prime Minister Churchill yesterday for more than an hour and is believed to have received a first-hand picture of the war situation. The meeting took place at 10 Downing Street after Mr. Churchill had spoken in the House of Commons.

Earlier the Progressive Conservative leader had a long conference with Hugh Dalton, president of the board of trade, at which they discussed post-war Anglo-Canadian trade matters and intra-Commonwealth trade generally.

He had lunch with Viscount Cranborne, Dominions secretary, and another conference followed.

On Wednesday Mr. Bracken lunched with Lord Beaverbrook, Lord Privy Seal, and visited Viscount Bennett, former Canadian prime minister, in the evening.

Mr. Bracken and Col. A. J. Brooks, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Royal (N.B.) expect to leave for Italy shortly where they plan to visit the Canadian Corps sector.

Honor Soldiers
OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Defence headquarters announced last night that Honorary Capt. Albert Silcox, 38, of Bourlonsville, Que., and Greenwood, Ont., has been awarded membership in the Order of the British Empire while S. Sgt. Maxwell Parker, 39, of Hamilton, has been awarded the British Empire Medal, both for gallantry in action overseas.

Last year's Lacombe 'spiel was the best ever, according to Central Alberta followers of the roarin' game, and the aim of the various committees in charge is to make it even better this year.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

War Wife Deserves Medal, Commendation

Lonesome, Bored Woman Prey to Pleasure and Flattery; Little Recreation, Fun for War Wife Without Gossip

A war wife says: "Here is a situation that burns me up: At all the training and recreational centres, married men are entertained exactly as if they were single, and not an eyebrow is raised in their direction. But no efforts are made to cheer up the war wife. If she has any recreational outlet whatever, she must join one of the wives' clubs and be deprived even of the stimulating conversation of men. Just let her dare to look at a man or dance with one or step out with one, and up and down the full length of Main Street you can hear the gossip howl. And if she takes a job and works outside of her home, she is accused of neglecting her children. I call this situation unfair, intolerable and lousy."

It is quite true that the war wife, whether she stays at home or follows her husband from camp to camp, has a pretty thin time of it, and if she emerges from the experience without having acquired a sour disposition and a bedraggled reputation, she deserves to have a hero's medal pinned on her breast.

WAR OF TONGUES

For her husband at the front has fought no harder battle than she has with her loneliness and boredom, not been in any more danger from the bullets of snipers than she has from the tongues of the neighbors. Naturally the chief sufferers are the young and pretty brides, accustomed to good times, who find themselves relegated to the society of Mama and Papa and other women, with no amusement except writing letters to their husbands and knitting sweaters.

But the elderly women, who are camp followers with children do not escape scotfree. For it is a dreary experience to be a stranger among strangers, living in uncomfortable surroundings, with nobody to talk to except the baby.

These things make life drab enough to the woman whose husband is overseas, but nobody knows how to deal with the situation. A mother can't go gadding around in search of pleasure with an infant in her arms and a yearling clinging to her skirts. Nor can she leave them alone at home, with no one to see that they don't set the house on fire, or get smothered in their crib.

Obviously it is impossible to mitigate these women's lonesome evenings by bringing gay and entertaining people, who never heard of them, to their houses to buck them up. And if the wife does take matters in her own hands and starts out to hunt for pleasure, she does it not only at the peril of her good name, but also of her happiness. For a lonesome and bored woman, fed up with her own society, is the most vulnerable creature in the world. She is starved for pleasure, for flattery and for love-making, and she is the easy prey for any wolf who happens along.

Furthermore, she is being cruelly unjust to her husband because her conduct in stepping out with other men, no matter how innocent it may be, fills him with jealousy and suspicion that add the last touch to the suffering he is enduring.

Undoubtedly life is hard on the war wife, but how to make it pleasant, nobody knows.

Your Baby And Mine

No one is more pleased than I when a correspondent brings me a letter. "Dear Friend, I call you that because I feel you are a friend to all babies and mothers." That sets me up no end.

Mrs. F. C., who wrote the above continued, "My five-month-old baby is being nursed. She takes four feedings a day, plus one 2-ounce glass of orange juice, 6 drops of concentrated oil and about 2 teaspoons of cereal, and 2 of sieved vegetables."

"But she is so constipated. She has a movement only every other day and while it does not bother her and is smooth and soft as a baby's movements should be, it does worry me. Should I do something to promote a daily movement? And what would that be? Do you think I should think of weaning her? She is getting along so well I'd hate to do that. She weighs 15 pounds and is certainly healthy."

And of course she is. If a nursing baby has a stool only once every 48 hours, that is not a matter for concern so long as the baby is good. The bottle-baby's formula can be adjusted so that there is a daily movement.

It seems to me in your case that your 15-pound baby would be hospitable to much more cereal and vegetable than you give her. Two teaspoons is a very cautious and skimpy portion. I think you would find if you increased it to the amount she would eat willingly, you might be surprised at the portion. She would consume. Babies are unpredictable creatures, and their capacity cannot always be anticipated.

There are babies at this age who take a half to a whole can of the strained baby vegetable or fruits at a meal. And several tablespoons of cereal.

In addition, you should add some strained fruits to her diet. This is most often given along with a second feeding of cereal preceding the 6 or 7 p.m. nursing. I feel very sure that this is probably all that is needed to provide the necessary stimulus for a daily movement. Try it.

My new leaflet, "Milk Formulas and Early Feeding," lists the child's diet to the ninth month. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

COFFEE AND HEART DISEASE

In the realm of King Hukom, a visitor from Mars might infer from what he hears on the air and reads in the magazines that in order to guard one's health, steady one's nerves, keep one's digestion in order, protect one's throat, maintain strength and vigor and hold one's job it is imperative that one smoke the right kind of cigarettes, chew the right kind of gum and drink the right kind of beer, wine and whiskey. However, if in spite of these precautions one gets that tired feeling or accumulates a lot of poison (nobody has ever identified it, but the quacks and nostrum mongers agree it is poison) in the blood or, not to stick our necks out, let us say in the system, then one may still be saved if one only has the sagacity or the good fortune to "eliminate" the hypothetical poison or poisons—not with pills, not with salts, not with mineral oil, but with a vegetable cathartic, no matter which old favorite home medicine one prefers, for with few exceptions all the more harmful purgative concoctions of great grandmother's day were and are all-vegetable physic.

If the man from Mars were not so glib as the American Medical Association evidently assumes most of us dumb doctors and most of the laity are (see p. 49 of the June 17, '44 issue of that humorous weekly, the Journal of the American Medical Association), his un-American skepticism would be overwhelmed by the weight of such eminent medical authority—bought and paid for by—you may have one guess whom.

The notion that coffee is bad for the heart, has been similarly nurtured. The truth is that coffee neither causes nor aggravates heart disease, when used in the ordinary way as a beverage. A cup or two of good coffee, hot or cold, with or without sugar and milk or cream, gently stimulates the heart, the cerebrum, the muscles, the general metabolism, refreshes and relieves weariness, and this pleasant action is not followed by an appreciable depression or let-down.

Children under sixteen and some invalids should not take coffee—invalids should be guided by the advice of their physicians as to the use of coffee. Most persons are kept wakeful if they take coffee within four hours of bedtime. But it is silly to imagine coffee taken at breakfast or after dinner will disturb sleep more than four hours later.

The caffeine in coffee has one particular effect that is rather desirable in many cases of heart disease, especially coronary disease (impaired circulation through the arteries in the heart wall). It tends to dilate these arteries and so permit better blood supply to the heart muscle. That's all, brother. All it seems right to say here.

Mother: "What two days this week can I count on your coming home from school to stay with Billie while I go to the Red Cross rooms or do some shopping?"

Not This

Mother: "I never get away from home any more. I can't get help and I won't make a nurse-maid out of Ellen. After all, Billie's my child, not hers."

Excusing young people from all home responsibilities may satisfy mother's martyr complex, but it's unfair to help young people develop into individuals with no consideration for others.

She was one of the few to reach six diamonds on today's hand. Some players made the mistake of finessing the second heart. Mrs. Sobel said first she noticed the drop of the ten on the ace of hearts. She went up with king because she figured that she could discard one of the losing hearts on the king of clubs and, if the queen of hearts did not fall, then perhaps the fifth club could be established. Of course, the queen of hearts did fall but it hadn't she could have established the fifth club.

Lt. Helen Waters is Returning to Civilian Life

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.—Lieutenant Waters, of Edmonton, is returning to her civil profession—teaching, WR CNS headquarters announced today. Her resignation was effective December 18, when she left Ottawa and she will resume her teaching position early in the New Year.

A member of the pioneer class of Canadian Wrens, in August, 1942, Mrs. Waters (who was then Helen Burns) was formerly head of the English department of McCauley Intermediate School at Edmonton. During her naval service she has been stationed at both coasts and in Ottawa, with Naval Intelligence.

Wife of Cyril G. Waters, well known Edmontonian, she shares his enthusiasm for mountain climbing and is a member of the Alpine Club. It was during a Rocky Mountain climb that she won the Life-saving Medal in 1931, and with that ribbon she wears the 18 months volunteer insignia and an award from the Girl Guides' Association.

One of the most popular officers in the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, Lieutenant Waters is known best for her constant knitting for seamen. She has donated nearly 200 navy sweaters and 250 pairs of socks to the naval auxiliaries during her service with the Wrens.

Much as she loves her life with the Wrens, however, the urgent demand for teachers in Alberta has a stronger appeal, and she has had her resignation accepted on grounds of returning to an essential civilian occupation. She is the first WR CNS officer to obtain her discharge for this reason.

F. J. Fitzpatrick Speaks To Farm Women on Credit Unions

F. J. Fitzpatrick, supervisor of co-operative activities and credit unions, said in an address Thursday that credit unions were started in Quebec in 1900 with a membership of nine per cent and a capital of $26. Now they have a capital of more than two million dollars in Quebec.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick was addressing the United Farm Women of Alberta at their 28th annual convention which opened Tuesday at the Macdonald hotel and will close Friday. Credit union is an organization for doing things for itself. Assets in Alberta totalled $900,000 and the organization loaned its members two-and-a-half million dollars. Times are better so credit unions are not as necessary now, the speaker said. "It is necessary while good times are here to put in a reserve pool of credit, so that when depression comes, we will have a large amount to draw on," he said.

"It is so necessary to take the whole view of co-operation. Co-operation not just as a money-saving movement—but co-operation as an international way of living," said W. L. Barker, Calgary, when she presented her report on co-operation.

Every province in Canada has legislation providing for the organization and establishment of producer and consumer societies, and has an office of the government administering the legislation and giving guidance to both new and existing co-operatives.

There are the miscellaneous and service type co-operatives. Included under this heading are various services which are being provided in a co-operative manner, such as housing, medical care, telephone systems and burial societies. Co-operative principles have also been applied in isolated instances to other forms of enterprises such as restaurants, laundries, printing, publishing and electrification.

GROWTH
An idea of the growth of the co-operative movement in Alberta alone is shown by the following figures: the membership in 1941 was less than 90,000 and in 1943 almost 143,000. As for business, in 1941 less than $37,000 was handled but in 1943 almost $76,000.

She went on to say it is imperative that all co-operators realize that they cannot expect to partake of all the good things of co-operation without accepting their fair share of responsibility. Social Planning and Welfare report was given by Mrs. A. M. Peters, Lethbridge. Perhaps our greatest need after this war is over is full employment for all citizens who wish to work," she said.

Anything that we can do to impress upon our governments the necessity of full employment for our adult Canadians should be done. It means more education and better preparation for earning a livelihood, she said.

A problem of interest to all is "How is the serviceman or woman to be treated on his return to Canada and civilian life?" Some of them have returned by now, and most of us can cite instances to show that their treatment has not been very satisfactory. But perhaps the fairest way to judge these cases would be to examine what the Canadian government has made available for their rehabilitation. There is a new department in the government, the department of veterans' affairs, with a special minister in charge, she said. When a serviceman leaves the service of his country he is met by counselors who assist him in making up his mind about his future plans.

All those who served, are protected against unemployment for a year after leaving the service. Mrs. Lorne Harris' report on young people's work was given by the president, Mrs. Winnifred Ross. As Mrs. Harris was unable to attend the convention, she stated "we are always pleading with the members of the UFA and UFWA to support our juniors. We want and must have our young men and women in our organization, so we will keep working for them."

YOUNG PEOPLE

She said there is splendid work being done for farm young people and juniors, by members of the extension branch of the department of agriculture, the faculty of the University of Alberta and the executive of the UFWA and the UFA. There are 28 active locals in the province. Reports from most of these showed that the young people are energetic and ambitious and deserving of help and assistance.

"Free clinic treatment for a number of diseases is now being given by the provincial department of public health," stated Mrs. George Inglis in her report on health presented Friday morning. "There are seven provincial clinics with a physician in charge in the various cities and towns where free treatment for venereal disease can be given. Travelling clinics for physical and dental examinations, and minor surgery have been in operation during the summer months in outlying districts since 1924. Free institutional treatment for infectious types of tuberculosis is given, also for paralysis due to poliomyelitis. Free hospitalization for maternity cases is given.

Full-time health districts provide health services such as prevention and control of communicable diseases, child and maternal hygiene and general sanitation. In addition to the full-time health units there were 26 district nurses in 1944.

Mrs. Inglis said that mental health is one of the main concerns of the department. All hospitals in the province are inspected periodically.

Keith Rosenberger, junior president, and junior vice-presidents, were introduced at the Thursday afternoon session.

The three members of the executive, Mrs. Winnifred Ross, Mrs. M. E. Lowe and Miss Molly Coupland, were presented with corsages Thursday afternoon.

RESOLUTION

One resolution was passed at the Thursday session. University education for returned soldiers will be provided by the government of Canada if the returned soldier has had the prior education enabling him or her to take further studies. In 1939 and 1940 many men and women enlisted from sheer patriotism and did not have time to finish their high school education. The depression was in progress and many young people through no fault of their own had no financial resources for high school education. ## UFWA Hears Lt. J. Page

The rural districts contributed among the best type of good corps, said Lt. Jocelyn Page, CWA social services officer of MD 13 when she spoke in the United Farm Women of Alberta on Thursday afternoon. This was the third day of the 28th annual convention being held in the Macdonald hotel.

Her subject was Rehabilitation of Service Girls.

Lt. Page is in charge of the service girls who are in the service or who are in the service.

Girls from the rural districts have adjusted themselves well to army life she said, and have matured and developed their experience and are ready to go back to their own communities. They are ready to go back into communities and their homes on a partnership basis with the family and the community.

ASKS CONSIDERATION

She went on to say she felt the employer of domestic help should be considerate and that the domestic be used as part of the household and given equal consideration and thought the same as any member of the household.

Lt. Page said vocational training was being offered girls and helped them to show how to use opportunities in their own communities. A girl could go back willingly and be a part of her community and be happy in her work.

She appealed to the women to come back from the war and take a responsible part in the community and she said the UFWA could contribute largely in helping. She said every single woman had to consider her own situation.

Polish Capital Is Practically Non-Existent

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Soviet Russia's leading war correspondent reported today that the Germans had exiled every living inhabitant of Warsaw before yielding the Polish capital to the Red Army.

Describing the newly seized city as "one big ruin, smelling of burning destruction," Mr. Makarenko wrote in Pravda: "No single live human was among this devastation. The Germans had exiled all the inhabitants."

"Soviet and Polish troops are marching to the west along wrecked streets," the correspondent wrote. "The inhabitants are coming back to a city which has practically ceased to exist."

"During the abortive uprising of last August the Germans wrought destruction with sadistic brutality, methodically turning street after street to ashes."

He declared all the most widely known structures in the city were destroyed. These include the Royal Castle, Belvedere Castle (presidential palace), the tomb of the unknown soldier, and the Chopin monument.

To Sit at Calgary

Commission meetings will resume Monday in Calgary.
Robert Cheyne of Victoria, chartered accountant, read the brief from the Okanagan Valley fruit companies. Under questioning by W. B. Francis of Saskatoon, counsel for several co-operatives, Mr. Cheyne said growers purchased the assets of the independents and the latter did not turn themselves into co-operatives.

Churches Provide Outstanding

Zombies Leave Army Barracks After Trouble

An intensive search through London and the nearby countryside by city, provincial and military police the day of the break-out was apparently curtailed later.

After the break from camp, a number of jeeps carrying some of the men and their escort of M.P.s were seen moving into the city and military police scoured the town and provincial police patrolled all highways.

On the night of the disturbance, according to reliable reports, members of both units were granted leaves from camp until 10 p.m. after they complained that leaves had been too short.

Edmonton Realtors Hold Business Meet

A well attended meeting of the Edmonton Real Estate Association was held in the banquet room of the Royal George hotel on Thursday noon, with L. A. Weber presiding.

No guest speaker having been invited, much routine business was disposed of.
An increase in membership was reported and several new members were admitted.

Greetings sent by the Calgary Real Estate Association at a recent meeting were read by the president. The question of sending delegates to a meeting of the Canadian Association of Real Estate boards was dealt with. The question of the Macdonald hotel beautification project was discussed and action was deferred to the next general meeting to be held for an early date. The secretary was instructed to advise the City Commissioners.

Latest Appeal!
PARIS, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The latest German propaganda circular—intended for distribution among American troops—is an appeal to Americans to abandon Europe as being "already a heap of ruins" without post-war business opportunities, and to devote their whole war effort to seizing British and Japanese holdings in the Far East.

setback to the co-operative movement in Canada at a time when co-operatives could play a major part in post-war reconstruction planning. There was no better method to distribute wealth than through one's own self help. She had no brief for organizations "masquerading" as co-operatives.

Examined by E. T. Parker, of Halifax, commission counsel, on the question of what is a "true" co-operative, Mrs. Stevens said in a true co-operative the object is not to make profits but simply to create savings for its members.

Declaring there are seven co-operative housing projects in Nova Scotia financed partially by the provincial housing commission, Mrs. Stevens said the British Columbia legislature's rehabilitation committee of which she is a member approves the idea of loans to co-operatives to assist in the post-war reconstruction period.

The association's submission asked for equal treatment for all insurance organizations "according to ability to pay," adding present co-operative insurance outfits are as able to pay taxes as are limited companies.

The commission plans to leave Friday night for Calgary.
Besides Mr. Justice McDougall and Mr. Elliott, members of the commission are B. N. Aronson of Regina, J. M. Nadeau of Montreal and J. J. Vaughan of Ottawa. S. Hubbard of Ottawa is official reporter for the commission.

LONDON STOCKS
LONDON, Jan. 19.—(Reuters)—Unusually quiet trading in the stock market, encouraged by the latest good war news, brought about further widespread profit-taking on stock markets today. Offerings, however, were not on a large scale and were chiefly among industrials.

The recent favours among industrialists again came under pressure. In the radio group Cosmo eased slightly and some others were up to six pence lower.

The total number of training aircraft on the strength of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan as at August 31, 1944, was 8,665.

In Memoriam. In Loving Memory of Kay MacKinnon who passed away January 15th, 1945. She will not age. Nor will the page of life's book. Turn again for her. Her song is sung. And she remains—Forever Seventeen.

Sadly missed by Mom and Dad, Isla, Johnny, Margaret and Albert and Bobby and M. Catherine.

In Loving Memory of Margaret Elizabeth Potts who passed away January 15th, 1945. When we reach the heavenly garden And see her in full bloom, The flower we loved so dearly And thought God plucked too soon, Then we will know the reason, 'Twas we knew it not today, Why in her fragrant beauty God took our flower away.

Ever remembered by Uncle and Auntie Allan, Uncle George and Alfred Blyth.

In Loving Memory of our beloved husband and father, Robert Dundas, who passed away on January 15th, 1945. He had a nature you could not help loving. And a heart that was purer than gold. And to those who knew him, His memory will never grow cold.

Ever remembered by his wife and children.

Russia Appealing

For More Clothing

No great Allied power has suffered at the hands of the ruthless Nazi invaders to the extent of the Soviet Union. Millions and millions of people have lost everything they had.

In a bitterly cold country, millions are without warm clothing.

It is just two days until the opening of the "Clothing for Russia Drive" and Edmontonians are urged to assist the peoples of their gallant ally by laying aside warm, serviceable garments or articles of bedding.

These should be delivered Monday to the Canadian aid to Russia Fund clothing department, 9025 Jasper Avenue.

amalgamation would involve 34,000 farmers. Taking this number into account, "really rapid strides" have been made towards fusion, he averred.

"The AFU is composed of men we have been trying to get into the UFA for years," a speaker observed. He suggested amalgamation was the best means of accomplishing this objective.

ATTITUDE "SHAM"
 J. K. Frey, delegate from Arneson, said "We can't go back to our local with the argument that the only outstanding difference is the name." He claimed this attitude was "sham."

"Are we going to tell future organizations they can't change their name?" he asked.

Mr. Frey said the main point regarding amalgamation was "there

Operations Outlined Co-Operative Packing Plant Considered at UFA Meeting

Most feasible way by which Alberta livestock producers could enter the packing plant business is through purchase outright of any large packing concern now operating in the province, Hugh Allen, president of Alberta Livestock Co-Operative Ltd., Thursday afternoon told delegates to the United Farmers of Alberta convention here.

Mr. Allen was speaking to the convention on operations of the livestock co-operative, and discussed the off-projected producer-owned co-operative packing plant.

"We often receive enquiries as to co-operative packing plants," he told delegates.

"One small packing plant would only assist the area immediately around it. It would be entirely at the mercy of the larger packing plants, and no matter how much farmers in other parts of the country wished to assist it, they could not do so."

STILL OPEN QUESTION

Mr. Allen said the question was still open as to whether small packing plants spread through the country were preferable to the larger centralized plant.

"In my personal opinion, the large centralized plant probably meets the situation better than the other smaller type," he declared.

The livestock co-op officer said one way in which producers could enter the packing plant business would be by getting control of an established plant.

"I don't mean a small one," he stated.

"This would involve a tremendous amount of money. It is a big business and will take big money."

He advocated saving cash reserves over a period of years, and when a large enough bank balance was obtainable, the packing business could be entered "in a big way."

"I think there are people who would assist the livestock producers in western Canada to go into the packing enterprise, if they were convinced of the producers' seriousness," Mr. Allen told convention delegates.

BACKING FROM U.K.

He said co-operative organizations in the Old Country could be interested in backing livestock men of this country if they were convinced of the soundness of plans suggested.

Answering a question from the floor of the convention, Mr. Allen said that collapse of the old livestock co-operative was because of the market collapse of the 1930's. Prairie wheat pools, faced with serious trouble in the same period, were saved only by government intervention.

A second speaker before the convention Thursday afternoon was J. A. Wood, Elora, president of Central Alberta Dairy Pool. He told delegates this pool operates 11 creameries, one cheese factory, and one condensed milk plant.

J. Brown, Canadian Co-Operative Implements Ltd., told the convention a great similarity existed between proposals to enter the packing business and the farm machinery business.

The CCIL has definitely determined to enter the farm machinery business in the distributing phase. Mr. Brown stated. He added the co-op did not contemplate entering the manufacturing phase. "We of the co-ops know how to distribute on an economical basis," delegates were told.

SECURING SUPPORT

The organization is not only mobilizing farmers in efforts to reduce the price of farm machinery, but is securing widest possible support from organizations already set up, as well as prairie governments, Mr. Brown declared.

"The sooner the farmer joins up, the sooner his machinery is forthcoming," he said, revealing it is planned to enter into an arrangement with a Canadian implement manufacturer who will make machinery for the CCIL, and take over his whole western distribution system.

Fourth official to address the convention Thursday afternoon was George Bradley, newly-appointed manager of Maple Leaf Petroleum Ltd., Calgary. Mr. Bradley said his organization's products measured up well in uniformity and quality, and he promised this standard would be maintained. He predicted new petroleum products developed for use in the war would be supplied to farmers as soon as military conditions would permit.

Hudson Bay Route Plan Is Approved

REGINA, Jan. 19.—(CP)—A resolution endorsing the proposal of John Bracken, national leader, that the Hudson Bay route be given "a fair and exhaustive trial" to prove its use in stimulating trade between Western Canada and the United Kingdom, was approved today at an executive meeting of the Saskatchewan provincial Progressive Conservative Association. The resolution said that a number of Canadian merchant marine ships should be placed on the Hudson Bay route over a period of years.

Dog Loses Out

WINNIPEG, Jan. 18.—(CP)—One small Winnipeg dog will never know that his best friend was a man—his master.

The will of Frederick J. Nuttall, died for probate yesterday, instructed the executors before distribution of the $404,500 estate to see that the dog was properly housed and cared for during his lifetime with "reasonable freedom to run at large."

But the executors were relieved of the trust. The dog died before his master.

Vets' Assistance Explained At Meet

Members of the health division, Edmonton council of social agencies, were addressed by O. P. Thomas, occupational counselor, department of veterans' affairs, and W. J. Cubitt, selective service officer, special services division. The procedures, policies and facilities of their respective departments in assisting returning veterans to become established in suitable employment were outlined.

Employers were being canvassed seeking their co-operation in the employment of handicapped persons. They were being asked to analyse the jobs in their firms with a view to determining which could be handled by men with specific handicaps.

Mr. Thomas pointed out that the work of the department would be greatly simplified if reports on classifications, mental tests, and more detail on educational background, all of which are now in the hands of the military authorities, could be made available, confidentially, to the department of veterans' affairs and selective service.

Officers and members of the executive committee of the health division for 1945 were elected as follows: Chairman, Mrs. W. F. Barfoot; vice-chairman, Dr. Mary Hunter; honorary secretary, Mrs. Philip W. Jean; members of executive, Dr. G. M. Little and Mr. F. T. Beddome.

Legion Planning Furnish Rest Room

Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion will furnish a rest room in the new soldier's wing in the University Hospital to be opened soon. Secretary-Manager W. J. Williams said Friday.

The rest room, which will contain easy chairs, writing desks and other furnishings, will be located in the southeast corner of the wing.

An enlarged photograph and a plaque, commemorating the late W. "Paddy" Griffin, Legion welfare officer, will be in the room.

As a matter of fact the entire room will form a fitting memorial for "Paddy" Griffin, who for many years was constantly looking out for the wellbeing and comforts of wounded veterans in the military hospital.

Salt is formed of sodium, a very active metal, and chlorine, a very poisonous gas.

Rotarian Speaks On Rehabilitation

Dr. Graham Huckell addressed fellow-Rotarians at their weekly luncheon meeting held in the Macdonald hotel Thursday, on the subject of "Physiotherapy and Rehabilitation of the Wounded," and showed films of the work actually being carried out on wounded servicemen in overseas hospitals.

Dr. Huckell spent six months in the British Isles last year as head surgeon in charge of the Hairmyres hospital, an orthopaedic unit.

Of particular interest, the speaker said, is the fact that exercises, under supervision, are started as soon as possible. Men with shattered limbs commence special exercises for definite periods every day while they are still confined to bed.

The films were taken at Hairmyres and at a British rehabilitation centre, and show the beneficial effects of physiotherapy treatment. Walking machines, bicycles, organized sports and cross country races, all play an important role in the rehabilitation of wounded both mentally and physically, Dr. Huckell said. Many are released from hospital in perfect condition and return to the battlefields.

Similar work will be carried on in the new hospital for veterans at the University of Alberta, he said.

Former Resident Dies at Montreal

Member of the faculty of McGill University, Montreal, where he was professor of applied science, Prof. Albert John Kelly died on Thursday, according to word received by his sister, Mrs. Frank McMahon, 10632 116 street. He was 53 years old.

Professor Kelly was born here, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly.

After attending city schools he enrolled at the University of Alberta. When the Great War of 1914-1918 broke out, he enlisted with the University Company and went overseas where he was posted to the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. On being commissioned he served as intelligence officer with that unit, and he is mentioned several times in the two-volume history of that famous regiment. On his return from overseas he was posted to the faculty of McGill University where he remained until his death.

In charge of the famous McGill observatory, he had an apartment in its tower which served as his residence.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by four brothers, William Kelly, professor of geology at Michigan State University, Lansing; Sgt. John Kelly, RCAF; Luke Kelly, an electrical engineer at Brockville, Ont., and Edward Kelly and two sisters, Mrs. McMahon and Mrs. J. Scott of Seattle, Wash.

A funeral service will be held, and burial will take place at Montreal.

$1,500,000 Fire

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Damage estimated at $1,500,000 was caused at an Australian port Wednesday when a sack set afire by a spark from a welding lamp was dumped over a ship's side and ignited oil on the water, the Australian News and Information Bureau reported last night.

Post-War Plans Declared Futile Without Changes

The surveys and plans of post-war reconstruction and rehabilitation committees which are springing into being all across the Dominion are leading people to believe that a new order is coming, "when in fact it is impossible under the present order," N. B. James, M.L.A., secretary of the Alberta Social Credit Board, told a meeting of the East Edmonton Associated Social Credit youth Thursday night.

Mr. James addressed the meeting in the absence of Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, the scheduled speaker.

Anthony Hynka, Social Credit MP for Vegreville, also addressed the meeting, speaking on the subject of national organization and the importance of a Social Credit youth movement.

Mr. James attacked a statement made Thursday by Hon. J. L. Halsey, minister of finance. "Mr. Halsey claims the federal government has four objectives, high employment, balanced economy, social security and individual freedom," the speaker said.

BUILD FALSE HOPES

"It is a crime for Mr. Halsey or anyone else to build up the hopes of the people of Canada and of the boys who are fighting overseas with talk of a rosy future, for all this talk of a new order is just so much puff under the present system of borrowing and taxation."

"Reconstruction committees in the various provinces are spending thousands of dollars making surveys of post-war plans and needs of Canadian people," Mr. James stated, "and the question-aires and blueprints for post-war projects are leading us to believe that these things are actually coming into being."

How are all these schemes to be paid for, the speaker asked. "MacKenzie King, Goldwell, or any of the men who advocate all these glorious changes know very well they can't be financed under the present set-up and they know too that unless the whole monetary system is changed, these plans will never be executed," Mr. James declared.

FACE SEVERE CRISIS

The speaker said the world is facing the severest crisis of its history and that Canada is threatened with a depression worse than any witnessed before. Two factions are warring at present and Social Credit provides the middle road and the answer to the problems, he claimed.

"There are the old reactionaries who are satisfied to patch up the present system and hope that it will run, and there is a group which will swing completely to the other extreme. Social Credit provides the answer for by a simple method of book-keeping we would equalize the purchasing power of the nation with the wealth of our goods and services."

"Taxation would only be used to prevent inflation when the purchasing power exceeded the wealth. Then we would have social security and without giving up one shred of our individual freedom," he said.

The Rev. F. W. Williams was chairman of the meeting which was attended by approximately 40 people.

"Sit-Down" Protest Is Quickly Ended

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—(CP)—Protest demonstrations at Research Enterprises Ltd., at suburban Leaside, were called off last night after National Selective Services officials ordered 18 men with military deferments in the machine shop be laid off at the same time as 40 other machine shop workers. When 40 men who were laid off learned that the 18 men on deferment were not included, they staged a "sit-down" protest demonstration in the plant.

Issue of Catholic Paper Is Cancelled

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Commonwealth Magazine, published weekly by Roman Catholic laymen, notified subscribers yesterday that its Jan. 19 issue had been "cancelled" at the request of the writer of one of its leading articles. The decision was made because the writer had "a personal reason" for asking that the article be withheld from publication. The nature of the article was not disclosed.
